YOUR RESPONSE · words, drawing, signing or wanted help

ORIGINAL FICTIONAL SOURCE: One fictional trail sign is the whole. It has 3 equal-width sections at the same height. 2 sections are marked READY. The diagram shows these equal sections; they are not real measurements. No response has been supplied.

Source strip: equal sections; READY parts are shaded and named above.

1. What is the whole, and why do these parts qualify as equal parts?

2. What unit fraction is one section of this whole?

3. What fraction is READY? Explain numerator and denominator.

4. Show or describe the READY fraction in a different representation with its whole named.
